A CONNECTIONAL CHURCH FOR DISCONNECTED TIMES

The Synod of the Trinity needs our help. They are addressing the concern that some congregations are not only feeling disconnected from one another but from the national church as well. In response they taking on a project which will endeavor to close those gaps.

They are seeking one or two lay members from three-four congregations in our presbytery to work with the synod's communication team. Through the use of Zoom video conferencing these participants will share stories that reflect their experiences during the pandemic. The audio portion of these conversations will be made into a series of podcasts available to the members of the synod.

Please contact Mike Givler at mgivler@syntrinity.org for more information and to express interest.
